

held in the East Room. They will be conducted, according to the Presbyterian forms by the Rev. Dr. Tenney S. Hamilton, pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, on Connecticut avenue, of which the President and Mrs. Harrison have been regular attendants. The body will not be in state.

The funeral party will leave Washington Thursday at noon, or soon thereafter, for Indianapolis, where services of a more public character will be held. The funeral ceremony will be held at 10 o'clock on Friday morning, and at about 10 o'clock the church services will begin. They will take place in the First Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis, on the corner of New York and Pennsylvania streets. The Rev. Dr. M. L. Harrison, pastor of that church, will officiate. Simultaneously with the announcement of the death all the lights of the house were lowered and several policemen, who had been summoned in anticipation of the event, were stationed at the entrances to the grounds to prevent people from intruding on the privacy of the family and their grief. Telegrams were dispatched to all members of the Cabinet absent from the city and to Judge Scott, Mrs. Harrison's only brother, who is now on his way to this city, in the vain hope of reaching her before the end of the day. He started from Fort Townsend, Wash., yesterday and is probably now as far as his journey as Hamar.

Messages of condolence have been pouring in since early last night, many having been based on a premature report that death had taken place at 6 o'clock in the evening.

The President had not up to 11 o'clock had an opportunity to examine them. "I will be sure," they will not be given to the public, and they may not be given out even then, as Mr. Harrison is averse to a parade of these messages before the public.

A telegram expressing condolence has been received from Queen Victoria. The Pope, through Cardinals Gibbons and Hamilton, sends his heartiest sympathies to the President and Mrs. Harrison.

Secretary Blaine sent over a message to the President during the morning. It was contained in an envelope directed to Mr. Blaine's own handwriting, and was sent upstairs to the President.

Among the many senders of telegrams of condolence are the following: Ex-President Grover Cleveland, Vice-President Morton, Whitehall, Thomas H. Carter, Gov. Chase, of Indiana, and State officers; Robert T. Lincoln, J. H. Mangle, J. N. Huston, ex-Treasurer of the United States; ex-Congressman J. B. Chandler, of Indiana; Francis Murphy, Rev. John B. Faxon, of the Madison Avenue Church of New York; Dr. M. M. Mendenhall, United States Marshal for the District; Mr. J. M. McKelvey, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Gen. C. H. T. Collins, of New York; Hamilton, of Philadelphia; Gen. H. S. Foster, of Indiana; Senator Allison, Judge E. B. Martin, of Indiana; Judge Patterson, of Pennsylvania; A. A. Whitford, ex-President of the Postmaster General; and Mrs. F. W. Johnson, of Indiana; Mr. C. H. McKelvey, editor Brooklyn Eagle; Rev. Dr. McLeod, of Albany, N. Y.; John W. McKelvey, of New Hampshire; Gov. and Mrs. Cheney, of New Hampshire; W. P. Fitch, of Indianapolis; E. J. Phelps, of Vermont; Gov. Brown, of Rhode Island; Bishop and Mrs. Newman, of New York; William C. Cowell, of Massachusetts; John D. Leland, of Pennsylvania; Charles R. Baker, of Rochester, N. Y.; Col. W. H. Holloway, of Indianapolis; Legan H. Boone, of Arkansas; ex-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Dr. J. A. Roberts, of Philadelphia; T. W. Palmer, of Detroit; J. A. Clarkson, Senator Hancock, Hilary A. Herbert, of Alabama, and the President of the World's Columbian Exposition.

The President and the other members of the family are bravely enduring the strain on them and their grief though palpably evident, is well controlled.

Postmaster-General Wamaker and Secretary Noble, with the Attorney-General, and Secretary Tracy, are the only members of the Cabinet in the city, called this morning, and each passed about half an hour with the President.

It is expected that such members of the Cabinet as can safely leave their official duties will accompany the funeral party to Indianapolis in the capacity of honorary pall-bearers.

The President was averse to having the White House flag flown at half-mast, and rather than have it fly as usual the attendant refrained from raising it at all.

ALL HAVE WORDS OF SYMPATHY.
Politicians of Both Parties Express Narrow as Mrs. Harrison's Death.

The flags at Tammany Hall and at Republican headquarters were at half-mast to-day, and the funeral party was met with respect to the memory of Mrs. Harrison.

When Mayor Grant arrived at his office he sent for Martin Keese, the Keeper of the City Hall, and directed him to place the National, State and city flags at half-mast.

The Republican National Committee held a meeting this afternoon to pass resolutions and tender their sympathies to the President upon the death of Mrs. Harrison.

Politicians, irrespective of party, expressed regret at her death and sympathy for the President and his family. Democrats forgot for the time that he was the opponent of their candidate for the Presidency, and spoke of him only as an honored President of the Republic.

Mr. Hartley, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said: "Mrs. Harrison was a type of the American wife and mother, a helpmate in the best sense of the word. Her husband has the President in his arms, and sympathy for him will extend beyond the limits of the nation, and will be world wide."

Mr. E. B. Smalley said: "Gen. Harrison's loss will be most deeply appreciated by those familiar with his private and public career." Ex-Mayor William H. Grace said: "The country owes him a debt of gratitude for his long and noble career, and his death is a great loss to the nation. His memory will live on in the hearts of all who knew him."

Don M. Dickinson said: "The sincere sympathy of the entire nation will be sent out to Mr. Harrison in his dark hour of grief."

DEATHS IN THE WHITE HOUSE.
Two Presidents, Mrs. Tyler, Mr. Dent, Lincoln's Son and a Haytian Minister.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The death in the White House of Mrs. Harrison makes the second case in the history of the Executive mansion in which the wife of a President has died there.

A little more than a half century ago, on Sept. 10, 1843, Letitia Christian Tyler, first wife of President John Tyler, died in the White House. She had entered it in delicate health, unable to perform the social duties of the place, but her death, nevertheless, came as a surprise and a shock to the country.

The tolling of the church bells the following day and the funeral services which took place in the East Room.

Two Presidents also have died in the White House. William Henry Harrison, the President's grandfather, ended his days there just one month after his inauguration.

Zachary Taylor, the old Mexican war hero, also died in the White House in July of the second year after his inauguration.

There have been a few other deaths in the historic building, of which deaths two were members of the President's family circle. Lincoln's little boy "Tad" died there, and so did Frederick Dent, Mrs. Grant's father.

During President Arthur's administration the Haytian minister suddenly fell at a New Year's reception and died in a very short time.

MEETINGS TO BE SUSPENDED.
Resolutions Adopted in Brooklyn and Other Tributes of Respect.

Chairman Wilson, of the Kings County Republican Executive Committee, said this morning that all Republican mass-meetings would be suspended until after the funeral of Mrs. Harrison.

It was intended to have a meeting in the Park Saturday night, at which ex-Senator Vreeland should be the principal speaker. No other arrangements have yet been made.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Citizens Committee and other Republicans, held at campaign headquarters, Brooklyn, this morning, the following resolutions were adopted: To draft resolutions appropriate to the death of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison; to send a telegram of condolence to the President and Mrs. Harrison; to send a message to the President during the morning. It was contained in an envelope directed to Mr. Blaine's own handwriting, and was sent upstairs to the President.

COFFIN STOLEN FROM A GRAVE.
Undertaker Delap Accused of Taking It After the Funeral.

Joseph M. Delap, an undertaker, at 1621 Dean street, Brooklyn, was in the Gates Avenue Court to-day charged with stealing the coffin in which he buried Charles Lindwall, a member of Paper-Hangers Union 5,890.

The committee say that the grave had been disturbed, and when the body was exhumed the coffin was gone.

Delap was suspected, and the Committee now claims to have enough evidence to convict him.

He will be given a hearing to-morrow.

HER SKELETON IN A STUMP.
Bones of a Girl Who Disappeared Strangely in January Last.

DUNKIN, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The skeleton of Emma Healy, an eighteen-year-old girl, of Arkright, who mysteriously disappeared last New Year's day, has been found in Clark's woods, in an old hollow stump.

All the fresh, had been lying on the ground, and the bones were found in a hollow stump. The girl's body was found in a hollow stump, and the bones were found in a hollow stump.

Emma left her sister's house after being asked for something which she did not have. She was last seen on the morning of January 1st, and her body was found in a hollow stump.

SCOTT GETS BAIL.
His Bond Has Disappeared and He May Be Tried.

James Scott, Jr., the alleged defaulting school collector of the Middletown, N. J., public school, was released in $4,500 bail this morning.

Michael J. Donnelly, the school clerk and town clerk, who was also arrested on the complaint of school Trustee Fred Blanton, is held in $4,500 bail.

Donnelly had the custody of collector Scott's $2,500 bond, but it has mysteriously disappeared. Donnelly pleads ignorance as to the manner of its disappearance.

Unless this valuable document can be found, the trustees will be obliged to bring a suit against Scott's bondman.

DWYER RESTORED TO DUTY.
The Policeman Acquitted of the Charge of Clubbing Fried.

Policeman Patrick Dwyer, of the East sixty-seventh street station, who has been under temporary suspension pending the autopsy on the body of Laughton Theodore Fried, who, it is alleged, died from the effects of a clubbing by Dwyer Sunday night, has been restored to duty.

Gleason Stopped the Row.
LONG ISLAND CITY, Oct. 23.—The political meeting held at Puritan Hall, in this city, last night under the auspices of Mayor Gleason, broke up in a row. George Francis Train denounced Alexander Sullivan, ex-President of the National Labor League, as an embittered and with misapprehending the funds of the League. The friends of Sullivan resented the charges and a fight was imminent, when Mayor Gleason adjourned the meeting.

Fusion in Oregon.
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—Fusion between the Democrats and the People's party was completed yesterday. The members of the two parties will give their votes to two Democrats and two People's party electoral candidates. Leaders of both parties are confident. They are already figuring upon 10,000 majority.

No Appreciation for New York.
OWASSA, Neb., Oct. 23.—Major Dennis, of this city, an old-time New York Democrat, has an autograph letter from ex-President Cleveland, who says: "Those who are well informed in New York have no appreciation as to the outcome in New York. I am of the opinion that you are not enthusiastic and confident."

MRS. PARNELL WITNESS.

She Testifies to Having Seen Hugging and Kissing.

NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 23.—Miss Emma Carslake's suit for $10,000 damages from Dr. Morant Jenkins for breach of promise of marriage is on trial in the Mercer County Court. It was begun yesterday, and gave promise of sensational developments. Both parties live in Bordentown, where they became acquainted in 1876, when the plaintiff was sixteen and the defendant nineteen years old.

Miss Carslake's claim is that Dr. Jenkins has courted her steadily since their acquaintance began until April 2 last, when he abruptly terminated their relations; that during a part of this time he had been paying attention to another woman, whom he has since married.

In her own behalf Miss Carslake, who is a very attractive woman, testified that Jenkins had repeatedly promised to marry her; that her family allowed him to live in her home on the distinct understanding that he would marry her; that he had sworn what she told her was a Masonic oath to be true to her while breath remained in her body.

The plaintiff's sister Anna testified to many acts of affection and endearment on the part of Dr. Jenkins towards Emma. He hugged and kissed her frequently and called her pet names.

She was cross-examined this morning. The defendant's counsel called to snaffle her evidence in any respect.

"Did you ever hear the doctor propose to you?" asked Dr. Jenkins' lawyer.

"No, sir," retorted the witness. "Lovers are generally alone when such a thing is done."

"Oh! You know something about such things, then? Suppose you tell us?" The Court overruled the question.

Mrs. Della Parnell, mother of the late Irish leader, was placed upon the stand and, as a friend of the plaintiff, testified to seeing Dr. Jenkins often in company with Emma, and on several occasions kissing and hugging her.

Mrs. Parnell made an excellent witness and was not cross-examined.

Mrs. Carslake, mother of Emma, corroborated the testimony of her daughter in reference to the frequent promises of marriage and the frequent kisses and hugs.

The defense counsel began making his case this afternoon.

WEBSTER IN SING SING.
Beginning To-Day His Long Term of Nineteen Years.

Burton C. Webster has begun the service of his nineteen years' sentence in Sing Sing for the killing of Charles E. Goodwin. He was taken from the Tombs at 3:30 yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Michael Whalen and Joseph Burke, direct to the Grand Central depot where a train was boarded for Sing Sing.

Webster, the wife of the prisoner, was at the Tombs and met her husband in his cell as he was led out, handcuffed to Deputy Burke. She was pale and nervous, and the prison officials were prepared for a scene.

Webster was cooler than at any time since he was taken to Sing Sing. He was not in his cell when he was taken to Sing Sing.

BELIEVED TO BE A SUICIDE.
The Dead Man Found at Atlantic City Is Identified.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 23.—The friends of Hicks P. Garrett, of Westchester, Pa., who was found dead in his room at the Manhattan Hotel here Sunday, have taken charge of his body. He had registered as H. J. Wilson, of New York, and died from gas asphyxiation, and, although the coroner's jury decided that it was accidental, the general opinion is that it was a suicide.

Garrett had a great deal of domestic trouble, and recently had been swindled out of $5,000 by a man named John J. Westchester by shooting himself two years ago.

Twenty years ago Hicks P. Garrett was considered one of the most promising young men in Westchester. He had two children, both of whom are now married and living in Philadelphia. In 1873 the young father suddenly left home and started for the Pacific coast, where he was believed to have died.

His wife, it is alleged, all his interest in his father's estate was considerably lessened when he was only a boy. This was on condition that she would not cause him any trouble, and she has since then been a very kind and considerate mother.

In course of time the erratic husband and fatherless son of a girl in Minneapolis, who they could not agree and lived apart until April, 1891, when Mrs. Garrett took to her bed and never again got up, making efforts to secure a portion of the estate, but no money was ever given them by the executor.

FOUGHT IN EVENING DRESS.
Brown and Flurbille Battled Over Girls in the Street.

Charles E. Brown, arrayed in full evening dress and giving his address as 140 West 100th and Twenty-third street, and Fred Flurbille, a freshly dressed young man with red curly hair, were arraigned in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning charged with fighting on the street.

At 8 o'clock last evening Brown met two girls on the corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street and entered into a conversation. He had just been talking long when Flurbille came around the corner and objected to the man in evening dress talking to the girls.

A rough and tumble fight followed. After eight minutes in a cold blooded fight to make complaint against the other and both were charged.

HE PRAYED ON THE BOWERY.
Therefore Johnson's Sanly Will Be Investigated.

A man who gave his name as William Francis Frederick Johnson, a composer of music, was committed to the Tombs Court to-day, for examination as to his sanity.

He said that as he couldn't get a publisher to take hold of his compositions, he had to make them public himself. So last evening at the Bowery and Recker street, he began to sing his music to an ever-increasing crowd, who he had been talking long when Flurbille came around the corner and objected to the man in evening dress talking to the girls.

Johnson's condition was such that he was committed to the Tombs Court to-day, for examination as to his sanity.

Mrs. Alice Roche, of 304 West Thirty-first street, has asked the police to look for her fifteen-year-old daughter, Ivy, who has been missing since Oct. 12.

Ivy had been employed by a Mrs. Lisk, of 144 West Twenty-fourth street, as a companion. Her mother took her away from there, and on Oct. 2 got her place in the family of a Mrs. Stevens, at 104 West One hundred and Twenty-third street. While Mrs. Stevens and her family were looking at the Columbian parade on Oct. 12 the girl left the house and has not been seen since.
